Angola had the first disclosure of the MIC during the EXPO for ICT, one of the biggest expositions of new technology and other things related to the field of Telecommunications and Information Technology.

There was a demonstration about CanSat and the picosatellite, their applications and use in the society.

We also talked to the visitors of the stand about UNISEC and the MIC3, to which there was a lot of interest and willingness to participate.

High school and University Students, Military officers, Business people and visitors coming from different fields and areas of expertise gathered around our stand to listen to the seminar we gave about the MIC3 and the Can sat and pico satellite technology
